Creator Series · Lesson 9

“Dance with What Comes to Your Front Door”

TOBIAS: And so it is dear friends, dear Shaumbra, and dear teachers, that we gather once again in our circle, in our place of love. We thank you, Shaumbra, for welcoming us into this space, and for inviting us into your circle on this day. There is much that we have to speak of, much that we have to cover. It is new information that will cause you to re-think ways you have done things in the past. It will cause you to re-think who you are, and cause you to re-think of yourself as a true creator.

Now during these next few minutes of time, we simply ask you to open your heart and your being, as all of the angels and entities come rushing into this space. They come in to join you on this day of Lesson Nine of the Creator Series. As the first ones into the new energy, you are the teachers. You are the ones who have traveled the long path up to now, the ones who have agreed to be the first to go into this new space and this new dimension. You are the ones that have agreed to be the teachers for others.

As we have said to you before, it is not Cauldre (Geoffrey Hoppe) that sits here and channels Tobias or those of the Crimson Council. It is Tobias that channels you through Cauldre. We are channeling you! We are taking your experiences and your energies and your very thoughts and dreams and bringing them back to you. There are very few things that we will say during our times together like this that are totally new to you. They should resonate from within your being because we indeed are channeling you. We are taking all that you know, and all that you are learning, and we are simply presenting it to you from a different perspective. It is us that are channeling you. There is so much more to this statement that you will come to understand as you come into your own divinity, as you blossom in your new house. It is us that channels you, and it is such a delight that you have invited us here to be part of this.

Take a few moments, dear friends, and breathe deeply. Breathe deeply into the core of your being. Breathe in the love that we bring to you here on this day. Breathe in the honor. Breathe in the energy of friends, of family, and of Shaumbra that come flooding in to sit beside you for this next hour, or more perhaps more. (chuckling) Breathe in. Take in all of the honor that comes here on this day to be here with you. The honor is for your journey, for going into this new energy, for going through the shift, for releasing things from your life to make it possible to be here, to make it possible to be the teachers of the new energy.

We know some of you are timid. You do not feel worthy of this moment, and do not feel you deserve the grand love that comes in. We see you. We smile at you. We know you well, for you are family, in spite of the fact that it may be difficult for you to understand. We know you are family. You are the timid ones, the quiet ones who feel a burning passion within your being. You have many questions on your mind. You know something is going on, but yet you stand in the corners. You are not quite sure why Spirit, why, I, Tobias, why the Crimson Council would honor you, and kneel at your feet the way we do. Take your time, timid ones, quite ones, ones who are not so sure. Take your time. You will know when it is right to step forward. You will know when it is right to become bold, to voice what you have to say, to take action in the new energy.

In the meantime accept the smile and accept the love that we have for you. Accept the honor. The honor is here because your past has been long. Your path has been filled with many, many experiences. We know what you have done. We have seen it. We have felt it. It is recorded. Timid ones, shy ones, quiet ones... soon the time will come when you can accept this divinity that comes from within you. You will understand – perhaps not now but later – the energy that we bring out for you. In particular, we reach out to you today. You are as indeed special and loved as anyone that is here, as anyone that is connecting with this information. We see your heart glowing. It is you that we are speaking to.

As always, when we gather like this in our circle, there are invited guests who join us. They come here to be part of this wonderful event. They come here to observe, to see what it is like for a human to walk into their divinity. There are many, many here on this side who are curious, who stand in line and wait to be here. There is a special group of invited guests that join us today, that come into the second circle. You, the human, sit in the first circle. Then there are those who gather, who come here to observe and to stand beside you, to honor you, to share a few smiles and a few tears with you. They are in the second circle. During these past few moments, they have come in and taken their positions here with you.

Do you know when we gather like this that we create a new energy, a new dimension? It is not of Earth. It is not of our plane. It is a new dimension of divinity. That is what is created when you open your heart, when you welcome in the others who are not in physical body. That is what is being created here at this very moment.

The ones who come into the second circle on this night have a particular interest in you. They have a particular interest in your journey. They have a particular interest in knowing that you continue this journey into the new energy to become a teacher. Their spirit comes in on this day to visit, for they, as much as anybody, want to reassure you that you are on the right path. They will come back to you in the months and years ahead in your lifetime. They will sit with you, human to human, at that point.

The ones who come in today that are in the second circle are the ones who will be your students. They are the ones who will come to you for teaching and for healing. They are the ones who will mysteriously appear to you. They will come to you. They will not know how they have gotten there, but they will come to you. They will see and feel and sense the wisdom of one who has walked the path, one who has accepted their divinity, one who has gone into the new energy and is now working from that dimension and from that vibration. The ones who gather here in the circle on this day fill this room. They are the ones who will come next from the old energy into the new. They will need a human guide. They will need one who has crossed this chasm from the old to the new to assure them that it can be done.

It is interesting to note that you have been their teachers in the past. You have sat with them in other lifetimes in temples, in churches, and classrooms. You have been their teachers. This will not be a new experience between you and them. You will have gone through it before.

They knew you would be among the first walking into the new energy. They raised their hands. They said, "After you go through, be my teacher. Be the one who help to show me how to heal my body, how to heal my emotions, and how to love my spirit." The ones that gather here on this day have reason for being here. They have reason for cheering you on. They know it is difficult, being the first. They know it can mean having to give up what you loved most dearly, your family, your career, your health, even your perception of who you were. They knew it is challenging. That is why they did not raise their hands! (audience laughter) But they knew in you that there would be a good teacher. They come here on this day, knowing you are walking through these lessons, knowing that you are going through many experiences in your life of release, and then of acceptance, and then finally of empowerment.

They are in awe of what you are doing, much as we are in awe of what you are doing. The work you are doing is powerful. It is incredible. It is done in the greatest service to Spirit and All That Is. And you do not yet see it! You do not yet see who you are or the effect that you are having on the people around you. You do not yet see the effect that you are having on your Earth and the consciousness of this planet. You do not yet see how you are changing your universe, and how you are changing the place that we call Home. The very work that you do today, tomorrow and in the days to follow is changing everything around you. Indeed it is changing the very nature of the kingdom from whence you came.

We have talked much of the journey of the prince named Jack (see previous channels), which is your journey. We have talked of how you came here, of how you were quite the adventurer, and how you came to be in this place called Earth in these bodies, having forgotten who you were. As you sit here on this day, your thoughts, deeds and actions are indeed changing the very nature of the kingdom you came from.

We are amazed that you do not see the powerful nature of the work that you do. You think you are just living a lifetime in this body, trying to get through day-by-day. What you are doing is changing the nature of Home. We honor you for this. We thank you for this. And as we have said, someday we will cheer and laugh together. When you are able to open those spiritual eyes of yours, you will see the effect that you are truly having on this entire creation, not only on this universe that you are living in, but on the entire creation.

We have been asked before the question, "Do you return Home between lifetimes?" The answer to that – to the one who was going to ask it later tonight – is, "No." You return to a place that has the attributes of Home. It is filled with your family. It is filled with angels who work with you for a rebalancing after you leave your physical body. They work to prepare for your next time on Earth, but it is not the Home that you once knew. If you went back there, you would never return to Earth. You would find it too difficult to return. And also, dear friends, if you returned back Home now, back to the kingdom, you would not recognize it. The work that you and the other human angels have done has changed the very nature, the very vibration, and in particular, the depth of the kingdom from whence you came.

There will come a time when you will have access to all of the memories of your entire journey, when you will have remembrance of your journey. It will be like a library that is available to you. As far as returning Home, we know you too well! We know you are the adventurers. As you cross into the new energy, and as you take the "quad leap" into the energy of 4 – oh, dear friends, we know you so well. You will want to venture off again, creating new dimensions and new places. You are ones whose feet never stay put. We will be right there at your side as you go off into your new ventures, as we have been with you for a long, long time.

Dear friends, the room is now appropriately balanced. It is full. It is filled with entities who will stand in line to work with you. You will have much to teach them. Oh, they will resist you in many ways, much as you resist Tobias in many ways. (chuckling) They will curse you at times, but they have the deepest love and respect for you. They fill the room now, anxiously awaiting that time of transition in your life when you become a divine teacher, when you accept your new role within your being.

Timid ones, shy ones who gather here, we talk to you as well, for you are as much on this path as any others. It is simply that you have chosen to stay back a bit. You are working just as hard and going through just as much, and you are just as worthy as any others who sit in these chairs. Dear shy and quiet ones, we address the energy of this channeling to you. The ones who gather here on this day know it is time to come to you in remembrance for the pasts that you have had together. They know it is time to come to you in deep respect for the work you will do together.

We ask Cauldre be in pause for a period of time for this final melding of energy to take place. The ones who will be your students now come forward. They walk between the aisles. They come with tear in eye to share with you and to thank you and to encourage you to continue your work, so that you will be their designated teacher of the new energy. We will be in quiet for a moment.

(pause)

They say to you, "Oh, dear teacher, oh, dear teacher, accept this role that awaits you. Accept this chair of the honor that awaits you, that of the teacher of the new energy." They anxiously await this time of being together and learning from you again. They know you do not trust yourself at times, but they ask you to continue your journey. They ask you to listen well to the words and to the energy that will be delivered tonight. It will be an important element in the transition that you are going through. They thank you and take their place in the second circle as we continue with the discussion of this day.

These moments that we share together are sweet and precious, dear ones. There are times when we could just here in silence, but we will talk now.

Before you came to this place of Earth, there were many preparations that had to take place. Your energy took on biology. You took the physical form. The preparation for this took eons of time. But before you came here in physical form, you visited Earth in spirit, in the light form that you were. As the universe were beginning to take structure, you journeyed to Earth in light body to get adjusted to the attributes of this planet, to get used to the dimension of "two" which is expressed in matter.

You needed these visits to Earth, and they were done over much time, but that were not done in physical body. They were done in your light body, for you had to adjust your being to this new, slow-vibration energy of Earth. You were used to vibrating very fast. You had to adjust to vibrating very slowly in order to adapt to a physical body.

You first came here when Earth was somewhat of a barren place. You came to seed your very energy on this planet, as well as to get used to duality in a slow vibrational state. You would come here and place your consciousness and your energy into the Earth herself. You would place your energy in rocks, so to speak. You would place your energy and your consciousness in the dirt. As the essence of life began to form on Earth, you placed your vibration into the smallest life forms to experience being birthed into a living organism on this planet. Over ages of time, you placed your energy into the more sophisticated life-forms that were developing on your Earth. All of this took place over a very long period of time. But from the dimension that you operated in, it was not so long at all.

When you first started coming to this place of Earth in your light body, you found it particularly comfortable and appropriate to place yourself in the states of water, for they were not as harsh to your being as the land. You spent much time placing your energy into the aqueous forms that were developing on your planet. Dear friends, among your favorite life-forms were the whales and the porpoises and the dolphins. You spent much time experiencing these new life-forms, for you loved this energy. You loved the playfulness. You loved your ability to express a spiritual wisdom within this physical body. Even to this day you have an affinity for these beings.

Make no mistake about it, it was you and the other angels who came here that seeded this planet with energy that now has transformed a rock in space into a living organism, into Gaia, into life that has sprouted. You came here in light body and set the energy templates for Earth and transformed it into a dynamic living and growing force. Gaia is you, for you came here and seeded this place. The oceans and the lakes are you, for you swam in them before you ever came here in physical body. The trees, the flowers, and the plants that feed you ... are you.

You came here to Earth and created the structures and the patterns and the architecture and the seeds of this very planet. Gaia is a living organism. She is you. When you look out into your stars, there are not other places that hold the attributes of Gaia. You did not go there as angels to seed. You came here. Indeed there were some journeys to other planets, as you would say, prior to all agreeing that you would work on this place of Earth. There were light body explorations to other stars and other planets, but dear friends, Earth was the planet of choice, the place that you came to, the place that you chose to come into biology.

There was much preparation before you ever came here. It was known that when you came to Earth, and you began placing your energy into physical matter and eventually into a body, that you would need a team working with you. These are what have been called your "guides." There were generally two angels that journeyed with you. They did not take on physical body like you did. They stayed in light body. They stayed at your side through your many lifetimes on Earth. They have been with you. Their role was simple – to maintain a balance of energy, to maintain a spiritual quotient, to keep you balanced. They were like the messengers from the other side of the veil who always accompanied you. If you had come without this entourage of angelic guides, there was the possibility that you would have become so immersed in duality that perhaps you could have never gotten out.

Your guides were the conduit to the other side of the veil, the conduit back to us. They stayed with you for quite some time. Oh, and as you know, they have departed, or are in the process of withdrawing their energy. It is now time for you to accept all of who you are, so that you may accept your own divinity. It is a compliment of the highest order that you can now maintain your own balance.

Several years ago, in this very room where the circle now gathers, the Kryon explained the other attributes of the guides. They stated that as you go through experience, and you reach a new understanding or enlightenment as a human angel, your energy would fill the vessels that the guides carried with them. It was like a golden, liquid light that filled these grand vessels carried by your guides. It was filled with your enlightenment and your new understanding. The guides would collect this wonderful energy of golden knowledge and wisdom that you exuded. Oh, and yes, to the one who just asked, you agreed to release this to them. They did not steal it from you. (chuckling) It was something that would not do you much good on this place of Earth.

The guides would collect this energy, and then another group would come in when these vessels were full. This group would take the vessels and replace them with new empty ones. They would take this incredible honey of substance — golden and sweet and nurturing – back on the other side of the veil. This energy would be used to continue creating your universe. This energy would find its way back to the kingdom from whence you came. This golden honey energy that you were producing here on Earth through your enlightenments and understandings would find its way to the kingdom to change the very nature of Home, to expand All That Is. It was the greatest gift of love that any entity has ever given.

And you wonder why we honor you and why we weep when we sit in front of you, knowing that you don't recognize who you are!

There was a group, and there continues to be a group, that we call the "runners." They are the ones that go back and forth from your side of the veil to ours. They are the ones that continue to serve as messengers and adjusters of energy. They are the ones that take things of your dimension of duality, that are in your consciousness. They then help to facilitate bringing these energies back through the other side of the veil. They are runners, for they run the energy from you back to the other side, and then they bring back with them the new tools, the new vessels, and the new energy. They are very busy these days, these runners, for there is much work that you are doing! They no longer interface with the guides. It used to be that the runners would work directly with your guides. The guides were always positioned like pillars of love directly beside you. Now the runners, dear friends, are seeking to work directly with you. Let us explain how this happens.

We ask for each of you to get comfortable in your chairs, to get comfortable in your place, and then we will go into Lesson Nine. Place yourself and your energy in your new house now. Dear Shaumbra, allow yourself to be in your new house, in this place of your divinity, in this place where you are learning to become the creator.

(pause)

We will tell you something interesting as you adjust your energy. From the time you first came to Earth and took a physical body until the time of now that we sit with you, you have not been able to be a creator in the true sense of the word. You would plan your lifetimes ahead of time with your team, your angels. You would work on certain objectives and lessons. You would develop a spiritual business plan, as it were. Then you would come back to this Earth. You would come back in human body. You would walk through the parameters that you had established for yourself. When you reached one goal, you would move onto the next that had been previously planned. In this mode, dear friends, it was difficult to be a creator in the true sense. In this mode you were one who was experiencing, one who was learning. But it was difficult to be a creator, for there had been parameters that had been determined in advance.

There was a frustration at the very core of your being, for prior to coming to Earth, indeed you had been creators. You had always expressed outward. You were frustrated in the many lifetimes that you had, because you could not seem to move outside of these boxes, and you could not express yourself as openly and fluidly as you had in the past. This has changed. You have completed all the chapters of your book of life. And now in the new book there are empty pages, waiting for you to create.

As you sit in your new house, dear friends, there are many new things that are happening. When you take your brush and create a broad stroke, this sets up an action. This sets up an expression of energy. This action creates a vibration that begins to resonate and begins to grow. It develops a strength seemingly of its own. Until you take the broad brush stroke, all things are in neutral. But when you make that first broad stroke, everything begins. With the broad stroke you initiate a vibrational energy that begins to work at very deep core levels.

These energies begin to resonate from within your new house, and then you add the passion – the fruit of the rose. This adds fuel to the vibration that has been created by your broad stroke. This new creator energy has an effect similar to when you throw a stone into the water. It creates ripples that move outward. It creates waves of energy, and these waves of energy permeate your house.

Dear friends, as you have noticed, we did not include intent here. We did not tell you that there must be specific intent when you created the broad stroke, or when you added your passion. There is a reason for that, which we will cover. The broad stroke begins the expression. The passion adds fuel to the expression. The waves are sent out. The waves of vibration of love, of the new creator, are sent out past your new house, past the short wall around your new house. These waves of love vibration are sent out into the people around you, into the city around you, into the Earth that you helped to create. There are waves and waves and waves of love that go out. Why would you need to tell those waves of love vibration what they should do or what they should be? They come from within you. They are you.

As these waves go out, they change the vibration in the things, not only within you, but also outside of you. The vibrations that emanate from you then touch other people. They touch the Earth. They touch the skies and the waters. They touch human consciousness. These waves of love have no need for intent. The spiritual balance is already there. There is the balance of "4," a new spiritual balance for your Earth that is contained within these waves that come from you. There is no need to put intent on them. They are balanced unto themselves, and when they touch other elements, or other vibrations, or even consciousness, the balanced love vibration of "4" has the potential to help balance and to help rejuvenate all energies that they touch. It is up to that receiving energy, though, how it will respond, if at all.

The energy that comes from you and from your divine being and from your new house is complete and full in itself. There is no reason to attach agenda or direction or anything to it. It emanates from you in purity. It emanates from you in completeness and in love. Do not put your human spin and mind on it. Accept that it comes from you in the most perfect way. It comes from you already in a state of perfection.

Now an interesting thing happens here. When you throw a stone into the water, the waves go outward and they eventually weaken. They eventually die off. It is different when you send out waves, the waves that are created when you do this brush stroke, and you add your pure love and passion. Dear friends, as the waves go out and affect all things around you, there is also the reflection of the wave that comes back to you.

The energy will come back to you in the best possible way. All of the time these waves of love vibration are going out from you, they are being accompanied by the ones that we call "runners."

The runners are assuring that these waves are finding the proper place. The runners are the go-betweens, the facilitators between the energies. As the waves reflect and come back to you with the facilitation of the runners, they bring back to you all things that you need, all things that are timely, and all things that are appropriate. Then you will hear a bang at your door like you have never heard before!

Dear friends, lesson number nine: Dance with what comes to your front door.

Lesson number nine in the Creator Series: Dance with what comes to your front door. As you move into this new energy, many of you hear these thuds and bangs and even rings of the doorbell at your new house. But you hide, and you do not answer the door! There are others who open the front door and do not see what they think they should see, and totally ignore what appears at their door. They slam the door, waiting for Spirit to deliver what they think should be the appropriate package.

Dear friends, Lesson Nine: Dance with what comes to your front door. It will be appropriate. What comes to you will be appropriate. The ones who gather in the second circle will be those who come to your front door. They will come, not knowing why, not knowing who you are, not knowing what brought them there. They will have that look on their face, frightened perhaps, nervous, but more than anything, confused and dumbfounded. They will not know what brought them to your front door. They will not see the runners who accompany them. It will be your runners and their runners who bring them to you.

No matter who or what comes to your front door, dance with it. It IS appropriate.

Dance with what comes to your front door. It is time to interact. It is time to take all that you know about yourself, all that you have learned and begin to apply it. It is time to meld with what comes to your front door, whether it is a person or an object or a thought. Oh yes, it could be a check from your Publisher's Clearinghouse! (audience laughter) Whatever comes to your front door is being brought there appropriately. It is being delivered to you by your runners based on your vibration. It is time to interact with it. It is time to begin the dance, to begin melding and putting your energy into it. It will be appropriate if it is brought to your front door.

Now we want to talk about some old energy attributes. There were those that we call the "acorn hunters," the humans that had to go out and gather the nuts and the acorns, much like squirrels gather them and bring them back into their old energy house, for they feared not having enough resources. So they gathered acorns, stooping along the ground and bring them back into the house for the long winter ahead. They are being cautious indeed. But dear friends, there is also a level of fear attached to this.

Then there are the humans in the old energies that are the "willers." They "will" things to happen. They try to make it happen by sheer will. They try to create by forcing their will. Oh, occasionally it works, once in a while, dear friends, but generally they are left tired and frustrated. They are trying to force an inappropriate energy to create in a way that is not so appropriate.

Then there are the "imagers," the ones who think that if they visualize, and they create the picture of something in their mind, then it will come to them. Occasionally this works, if there is enough energy poured into it.

But dear friends, why tire yourself, why frustrate yourself? There is a better way to do it now in this new energy. Take your broad brush, add your passion, and then to wait for things to appropriately come to your front door. When it does, it is time to interact. It is time to place your energy and your human skills, as well as your divine skills, into what comes to your front door.

If a student is brought to you – even if you do not like the way the student looks or acts or smells – it is time to dance. (audience laughter) Get close. Get personal. They are being brought to you for the appropriate reasons.

Put human judgment aside and know that all things are appropriate. If an object comes to your door, it is there for a reason. If you lose your job – know this is something that has come to your front door. It is there for a reason. Dance with it. Express your emotions. If your emotions are anger and pain, dance and express. You do not need to be holier than thou here. We understand that there is pain that goes with this. But as you dance, as you express yourself, as you embrace the moment, you will discover things about it that were previously hidden from you. Dance with what comes to your front door.

This will be a challenge for many of you. You are used to making plans. You are used to predetermining the way things should look and be, or how you would like them to be. This will be a paradigm shift, in the magnitude of "4." Instead of worrying, instead of planning, instead of gathering acorns, instead of willing things to happen, we are going to make it so very simple for you. Take your broad brush. Create a stroke. This begins a vibrational sequence at the highest levels of spiritual physics. When your passion is added to this, the waves of vibration go out. They affect others who are ready for it. They change the nature of things outside your new house, if the recipient is ready. Then the reflection of these waves brings back to you all things that are appropriate. This could be people, relationships, abundance, or health. The waves will bring it back. The runners facilitate this process to assure that it gets back to you, in spite of things that may try to block its way.

Do you understand what we are saying here? Be in your divinity and know that all things appropriate will come to you. Do not plead with Spirit. Do not beg for these things, dear friends. It is so simple that it will challenge you. Your fears will come up, and when you do not hear a thud at your door for a period of time, you will think you are doing it wrong. There is no difficulty or challenge in this. There is no way to study to do it right. It is that simple.

When you do not hear anything at your door immediately, it simply means that the waves of vibration that have gone out are doing their work. Now is the time for you to sit in the easy chair of your new house. Wait for that knock at the door. Now is the time to relax, not to worry. When you worry, and when you do not have trust in your divinity, it does alter the vibrations that go out, and surely it will not bring back the highest level of what you would truly like to create. Do not worry when you send these out.

Dear friends, Lesson Nine: Dance with what comes to your front door. When you do hear that knock, when something comes to you, it is being brought there for the highest good and in all appropriateness. Now is your time to begin interacting with it. Now is the time for you to go to work.

You say, "Tobias, how will we know what to do when we open the door and we see something?" We say to you, dear friends, the answer was revealed in our last gathering. Do not look at the choices of left or right or doing nothing. Look into the ALL. When the person stands there at your door, having been delivered to you by the runners, and you are wondering what they are doing there as much as they are wondering, look past the obvious. Go into the ALL. The ALL is the fourth level of understanding. The ALL is the higher level of understanding. It contains the answers, and you will know what to do. You will know what type of dance to make.

Dance with what comes to your front door. Now is the time for interaction. We use the term "dance" because it is, as we understand, a beautiful human expression ... although Cauldre is not so refined in this art! (audience laughter) It is a beautiful interaction and expression between the elements. It is flowing, and it is graceful. We do not just use the words "act on what comes to your front door." We use the word "dance" because it is complete, and it is beautiful. It is an art. Simply dance. Interact. When you look into the ALL, you will know exactly what to do with the object, the thought, the person, the emotion... whatever it is that comes to your front door.

Here is the challenge for you, the teachers: can you drop those plans you make each day? Can you go beyond the way you THINK things should be? You have been goal-oriented, and that has served you well to bring you to this place. You have planned things in your human mind, but now it is time to release that. Oh, this will challenge some of you! We refer here to things in your own life. We know that you will still be required to submit these things in your workplace, but in the new energy you will begin to see the fallacy of these old plans. You will begin to see how limiting they actually are in your own life.

You will not need these plans. You will not need the difficult mental exercises of willpower and focusing and imagining. Dear friends, this is what is tiring you out! That is what is causing your energy to leak! You try to will your health. It did not work so well! You try to will your abundance, and you find yourself flat on the ground... and flat broke!

In the new energy, dear friends, you emanate a vibration that goes out, and the reflection brings back exactly what you need. When it comes to you, then dance with it. Perhaps it is a new job opportunity. Perhaps it is a new healing that feels appropriate in the new energy, something that will heal those things that have been tormenting your physical body. Perhaps it is a mate and a relationship. Perhaps dear friends, it is a look at yourself, of who you truly are, of the long journey that you have been on and all that you have done to help change the very nature of All That Is!

Lesson number nine, one that is so very easy, but one that will cause you to have to rethink the way you have been doing things. Simply being in your new house, creating in broad strokes and adding your passion sends out waves of love without intent and without agenda. It IS perfection, and then it brings back everything that you need in perfection. This lesson will challenge you! Once you begin to understand, you will be amazed at how you could have gotten along without it.

Dear friends, dear friends, there is much to learn now in the next three lessons in front of us. During this next month of time we ask that you work with this lesson that we bring today – dance with what comes to your front door. Whatever comes into your life in the next 30 days will be appropriate. It will challenge your thinking. You may not understand how this could possibly be appropriate. Perhaps you will think that Spirit is bringing you terrible things, but if you dance with this, you will find that it is appropriate, and you will find gifts beyond measure here for you.

This is a milestone lesson. This will challenge you. When you teach this lesson to others, it will challenge your students to cross a chasm, to go into a place of trust and knowingness, and to release many old ways that they have held. But these ways have been limiting factors in their lives.

You are without contract. You are without plan. You are without a life lesson at this point. The pages are open and blank. You are now creators. We bring you this lesson to truly begin creating in your life.

Before we close this session on this day, there is one who each of you here, and each of you connecting with this, walked with in some way in the past. This one initiated a family energy that continues to this day. It continues in the greatest of love. The one we call Yeshua Ben Joseph comes here to honor you for your journey and to smile upon you. Yes, to the one who just wondered – his energy has been here all day. He has been standing beside all of you. He comes here shortly before this time of resurrection and renewal and your Easter to ask you to be in joy. He asks you to understand that this image of the cross and of the death is not so good! Yes, it was a challenging experience, but one that was filled with joy. It was to show humankind the love and the grace and the renewal that is possible within each one of you.

As Yeshua was on the cross, his spirit stepped down and walked amongst those who were standing there. And his spirit extended throughout the land, and there were many, many, many who thought they saw him at their sides at that particular moment and that particular time. Many of you here were close. Many were in other lands and felt this one that carries the energy of Christ walking beside them. How could he be in two places at one time, you wondered? How could he be upon the hill on the day of that storm and walking beside you? He came to show you that life renews, and that you renew.

He comes here on this day to say that you renew once again. You rejuvenate, but not the old human mind and not the old human body and energy. You rejuvenate, and you transform much as he did at this time 2000 years ago. The love pours from him and from us to all who continue the vibration of Shaumbra that began some 2000 years ago.

And so it is ...
